

John Sainthouse

Group Director
inTEC Education | Guildford

My typical working day

A mix of meetings and conversations internally and with clients. And lots of emails!

I joined inTEC in...

2018

Working with many wonderful colleagues, and being able to help schools with their IT challenges.

Best bits about my role...

If I was stranded on a desert island, ONE item I would need is...

An electric guitar - so I can play at full volume without anyone hearing how terrible I am

What most interests you about the tech industry?

Using technology to improve people's lives.

Maintaining work/life balance

I try to take all my annual leave.

My proudest moment so far...

I'm very proud of the reputation we have built up in recent years.

I define success as...

Happiness

My pet peeve is...

Dishonesty

Unknown fact about me!

Many years ago I launched a nuclear missile for the British Army. It wasn't a real one though, it was part of a nuclear war simulation exercise!
